Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Policy for Graduate Students

Graduate students receiving financial aid are expected to maintain qualitative and quantitative requirements and also to graduate within a reasonable amount of time.

Annual SAP review

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) will be evaluated on an annual basis at the end of each spring term and again, separately for summer term.

Qualitative requirements

WOU has academic policies for graduate students that specify the minimum grades allowed to remain in a graduate program. For financial aid recipients, we will follow the university's minimum qualitative requirements. The Graduate Office will notify our office when a student is no longer an eligible master's degree candidate.

Quantitative requirements

Students in graduate programs will be expected to complete all the credit hours for which their aid is based.

Maximum time frame

The maximum time frame for graduates will be based on 150% of the minimum program requirement.
