The Division of Teacher Education at Western Oregon University invites qualified applicants to teach open class sections in Early Childhood Education. Salary is dependent upon qualifications and may include an excellent benefits package.

Candidates will join a rapidly growing and dynamic Early Childhood Education (ECE) program dedicated to inclusive practices and social justice. The Early Childhood program offers two bachelor's degree options; a non-licensure Early Childhood Studies major, and an Early Childhood Teaching Authorization major. The ECE program is part of the Division of Teacher Education in the College of Education, nationally recognized for its leadership in evidence-based teacher preparation.

Responsibilities:

- Teach undergraduate and graduate classes in face-to-face, hybrid, and online formats, with possible opportunities for summer and off-campus teaching
- Supervise clinical experiences and prepare students to interact effectively with children and families in inclusive Early Childhood settings
- Participate in curriculum review and development including activities related to accreditation and program delivery
- Collaborate in the growth of the Early Childhood teacher education program

Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Early Childhood Education or closely related field
- Evidence of at least three years of successful, early childhood (birth – 4th grade) teaching experience in educational settings

Preferred Qualifications:

- Demonstrated excellence in teaching and/or supervision in undergraduate/graduate early childhood teacher education courses with emphasis on inclusive practices and philosophies
- Knowledge of NAEYC and DEC recommended practices and guidelines
- Experience teaching university students online, hybrid, and/or face-to-face
- Ability to work effectively with students and colleagues from diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds
- Commitment to social justice and inclusive education

State date: As needed
